FAREWELL TO 1915

Just four hours and 19½ will be gone. That is the old number in the old book of many, and to most it means a year well spent, a good friend. It has gone just as a moving picture, and we will not miss it again. The joys, the sorrows, the disappointments, the petty worries, the trials, the successes, the triumphs, the reconciliation, the smiles and tears, the joys of life, the trials and triumphs of three hundred and sixty-five days. Today one looks back over the past year and sees such reflections are falsehoods.

The truth is, the men rest between fingers. The story we may not choose to tell the world is that the joyous and happy memories frame our mental pictures of the past year, and that is focused on tomorrow.

The Canadian war, John Bright remarked that it was a time of gloom—a time when the angel of death was hovering over us. No one could fairly hear the beating of his heart without fearing he may have been blighted—misleads have suffered, and through them we have gained much more familiarity with the great eternal truth, and with the unseen. We have learned that 1915 is to be a year of prayer and sacrifice, and that the bitter sweets of the year that is just closing away are but trials to that great cause. And though we know these are but the poet's interpretation of the year, we are not unmoved.

A little while, a little play... To keep so going and so, good day! A little warmth, a little light... To keep so going and so, good night!

A little rest to match the sorrow... Of each day's growth and so good morning.

A little rest that when we die... We sleep our sorrow—and so good morning.

And so good our old year; here's to a bright tomorrow.

White Hopes For Match at New Orleans With F. Welsh

Scaler and O'Leary Will Stop Their Long Grind This Afternoon

Competitors in Saturday's Championship Bout Will Content Themselves With Light Workout at the E.A.C. This Afternoon—Yesterday Was a Boreous Day For Both Lightweight—Delegation Arrives From Athabasca to Witness Tompkins' Contest.

Kid Scaler and Johnny O'Leary underwent a series of relief last night, for nothing more than a light round of training yesterday afternoon, and a light workout today will suffice until the bout is held Saturday afternoon. Show passes on New Year's afternoons will be given to those who trained as contestants, and if the world title were at stake, and there were no limit to the number of rounds coming over lack of condition, O'Leary would be compelled to travel twenty rounds at top speed. While Scaler appears to be in better shape than O'Leary, he has not had his Edmonton ring career. This bout means a great deal to Scaler, for he is nearing a come-back after two years absence from the ring, but in addition to the money he expects in a demand for his services from promoters all over the west, Scaler champion, O'Leary is naturally out to make the best show possible with his power, not wishing to jeopardize his chances of getting a good price.

Two Pugilists Workouts.

The E.A.C. branch will conduct yesterday afternoon with a critical mass of fans, and after giving both men a light workout, will have the opinion that Saturday's bout would be a good one. Both fighters are trained as contestants, and if the world title were at stake, and there were no limit to the number of rounds coming over lack of condition, O'Leary would be compelled to travel twenty rounds at top speed. Kid Scaler and Johnny O'Leary underwent a series of relief last night, for nothing more than a light round of training yesterday afternoon, and a light workout today will suffice until the bout is held Saturday afternoon. Show passes on New Year's afternoons will be given to those who trained as contestants, and if the world title were at stake, and there were no limit to the number of rounds coming over lack of condition, O'Leary would be compelled to travel twenty rounds at top speed. While Scaler appears to be in better shape than O'Leary, he has not had his Edmonton ring career. This bout means a great deal to Scaler, for he is nearing a come-back after two years absence from the ring, but in addition to the money he expects in a demand for his services from promoters all over the west, Scaler

Real Progress Has Been Made In Province and City This Year, Notwithstanding the Big War

Prominent Speakers at Industrial Association Luncheon Indulge in Retrospect and Prospect—Speeches by Hon. J. R. Boyle, Mayor Henry, Bishop Gray and James Ramsey

Retrospect and prospect were indulged in at the luncheon of the Industrial Association held at the King Edward yesterday. What has been done in the year now past, what the prospects for the coming year, were the main topics of discussion. National positions are able to sum up the situation.

J. R. Boyle Speaks.

Hon. J. R. Boyle was the first speaker. He said that undoubtedly the most important factor in prosperity in the history of the province had been the growth of agriculture, that had ever been gained in, and the largest that had ever been dreamt of. Farmers had more money now than ever before, and the great increase in the number of tractors in the country naturally had a stimulating effect in the centres of population.

During the last year there had been a marked increase in wheat under cultivation, with a crop of 42,000,000 bushels; winter wheat, 1,465,000 acres with 65,258,000 bushels; spring wheat, 1,465,000 acres with 60,000,000 bushels; oats, 17,250,000 acres with 2,000,000 bushels; barley, 14,740,000 acres; flax, 36,000 acres.

The chairman occupied by H. N. Morrison, who sent along some cigars, and in whom congratulations were expressed, was the first to speak. Hon. J. R. Boyle spoke.

Mr. Morrison said that the first subject of his speech was the education; Mayor Henry, Bishop Gray, and James Ramsey, a subset of their addresses was "1915-1916."

His Honour Lieutenant-Governor Brett was also to have addressed the meeting.

The chairman occupied by H. N. Morrison, who sent along some cigars, and in whom congratulations were expressed, was the first to speak.

Visitors at the luncheon were H. L. Lofmark, of Regina, who is a member of the Legislative Assembly; Peter H. Leslie; Claude Hingins who is in the city; and Mr. W. H. Ross, of the Alberta Musical Festival at Lethbridge; Mr. R. E. McLean, of Brandon; Mr. Willard Rave, Grand Rapids, and James Brooks, of Peace River.
